CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

With 48 programs scheduled, there is something for everyone at this year's conference. Whether you work in academic, public, school, or special libraries you will find programs of interest. Administrative, adult, young adult, children's, and technical services are all represented in the assortment of programs planned. Check our website <http://nhlibrarians.org/springconference.html> for more information about the programs offered.

There will be a raffle of several gift baskets held each day during the exclusive vendor time – you do not need to be present to win but you won't want to miss the excitement!

LUNCHEON SPEAKERS

A buffet lunch, included in your registration fee, is scheduled for each day and we have booked two very exciting speakers. Tuesday's speaker is Jean Amaral, a reference librarian from Antioch University New England. Jean was recently recognized as one of ten librarians nationally to receive the 2008 Carnegie Corporation/New York Times I Love My Librarian award. Wednesday's speaker is John Blyberg, the Assistant Director for Innovation and User Experience at the Darien Library in Connecticut. John was named one of Library Journal's Movers and Shakers in 2006 and he has authored a number of open source projects, including SOPAC, Locum, and Insurge, a social catalog suite that allows libraries to focus holistically on digital strategy.
